FIRM RESUME 2019

THE FIRM

Mazie Slater is one of the most highly regarded trial law firms in New Jersey, based on the results achieved and the diverse scope of cases that we handle. Unlike most trial firms, our practice is not limited to a particular niche or subset of civil litigation, and this versatility sharply increases our capabilities. Our practice spans the fields of class action litigation, commercial litigation, insurance coverage litigation, professional malpractice, product liability, and personal injury. Perhaps most important, we have earned a reputation as trial lawyers who will take complex, expensive cases to trial and achieve large verdicts. The following are some of the settlements and verdicts we achieved:

In re Benicar (Olmesarten) Products Liability Litigation: $300 million settlement for individuals who sustained alleged gastrointestinal injuries caused by the blood pressure drug Benicar, manufactured by Daiichi Sankyo, Inc. and Forest Laboratories, Inc.

Escobar v. DYFS: $166 million verdict for negligence against New Jersey child protection agency. This is the largest personal injury jury verdict in New Jersey history. The Appellate Division subsequently reversed the verdict.

Verni v. Aramark: $135 million liquor liability verdict against Aramark, which is the second largest personal injury verdict in New Jersey history. The Appellate Division subsequently reversed the verdict and the case was thereafter settled for $26 million.

Dewey v. Volkswagen of America, Inc.: $69 million class action settlement relating to water ingress caused by defects in in over 3 million Volkswagen and Audi vehicles.

McGinnis v. C.R. Bard: $68 million jury verdict. This was a first bellwether case to proceed to verdict against Bard in the New Jersey MCL.

Alin v. American Honda Motor Co., Inc.: $40 million recovery on behalf of Honda and Acura vehicle owners regarding air conditioning system defects.

Sutter v. Horizon Blue Cross Blue Shield of New Jersey: $36 million to $55 million class action settlement on behalf of more than 20,000 New Jersey Physicians relating to improper claims handling practices by Horizon.

Confidential: $33.9 million product liability settlement on behalf of worker injured by a defective product in the workplace. This is the largest product liability settlement in New Jersey history.

Henderson v. Elizabethown Gas: $19.2 million settlement resulting from a natural gas explosion in a home that caused severe burn injuries to several of our clients, three of whom died from their burn injuries.

Morgan v. Newark Beth Israel Hospital: $18.5 million verdict for birth injuries.

Confidential: $15.75 million audit malpractice settlement. This case involved allegations that malpractice by an accounting firm resulted in erroneous financial statements, which allegedly allowed an insolvent company to continue in business. The case settled for $15.75 million, which brought the total recovery by our law firm in litigation relating to the insolvent company to $25 million.

New Jersey Eye Center Coverage Litigation: $15.3 million verdict against insurance company. This was a case in which an insurance carrier declined to pay multiple settlements against a single eye surgeon. Following a two week trial, the trial judge ruled that the insurance carrier, Princeton Insurance Company, had to pay the settlements.

Hrymoc v. Ethicon, Inc.: $15 million jury verdict. The verdict, for $5 million in compensatory damages to and $10 million in punitives, was awarded after a three-week trial. The jury found that the pelvic mesh products sued were defectively designed and failed to contain adequate warnings.

Cohen v. Benzel-Busch Motor Car Corp.: $14.7 million settlement in a case where the plaintiff suffered Complex Regional Pain Syndrome (sometimes referred to as RSD).

Hammons v. Ethicon, Inc.: $12.5 million jury verdict. This case is one of more than 40,000 pending against Johnson & Johnson and Ethicon around the country, for injuries suffered by victims of the Prolift and the other similar pelvic mesh devices sold by Johnson & Johnson and Ethicon. After a three week trial the jury awarded $12.5 million, consisting of $5.5 million in compensatory and $7 million in punitive damages.

Keller v. Flugrad: $12 million jury verdict for dental malpractice and wrongful death. This case involved medical malpractice committed by an oral surgeon whose negligence resulted in the death of a 21-year old man within 12 hours after having his wisdom teeth removed. It is believed that this is the largest oral surgery malpractice verdict in New Jersey and one of the largest in the U.S. history.

Confidential: $11.24 million settlement for a client that suffered quadriplegia in an accident involving the product.

Gross v. Ethicon, Inc.: $11.1 million jury verdict against Johnson & Johnson in the first pelvic mesh trial in the United States. On February 25, 2013, a New Jersey jury awarded our client, a 47-year old nurse, $3.35 million in damages against Johnson & Johnson in the first of 1800 mesh lawsuits to go to trial in New Jersey. On February 27, 2013, the jury awarded an additional $7.75 million in punitive damages, bringing the total verdict to $11.1 million.

Blake v. City of New York: $10 million jury verdict for failure to provide police protection. Action brought on behalf of a young child who was severely burned by a Molotov Cocktail explosive device that was thrown into the bedroom of his family's apartment by an unapprehended perpetrator. The jury awarded $10 million in compensatory and punitive damages, which award was reduced by the trial judge to $2.4 million and affirmed on appeal.

Furey v. Jennis: $9.7 million verdict for medical malpractice. This was a case on behalf of a man who suffered a severe pelvic injury while donating bone marrow. The verdict was later reduced by the trial judge to $1.4 million, based on the judge's finding that the jury award was so high that it shocked the judicial conscience. The case then settled for an undisclosed amount.

Confidential: $9 million settlement for a client involving a defective product which caused severe injuries.

Confidential: $7.8 million settlement of a product liability lawsuit involving a defective ride at an amusement park which resulted in the deaths of two persons. The case involved claims that the ride was improperly designed and manufactured, which resulted in our two clients being ejected from it. The case settled for the sum of $7.8 million

J.V. v. Newark Beth Israel Med. Ctr.: $7.4 million settlement. This was a case involving failure of doctors and nurses to identify and report child abuse involving an infant.

Homestate v. Milliman: $7.25 million settlement for professional malpractice involving claims against actuaries of an insolvent insurance company. The case involved claims brought by the New Jersey Banking & Insurance Department on behalf of an insolvent New Jersey insurance company against the company's outside actuaries.

Wisniewski v. Hazekamp Construction, Inc.: $7 million settlement on behalf of a construction worker injured when a scaffold plank he was standing on broke causing him to fall and suffer spinal injuries rendering him a paraplegic.

Floyd & Zapata v. City of Newark: $6.28 million in settlements resulting from the death of two individuals who drowned when their vehicles entered the Passaic River due to a dangerous road condition.

Poplawski v. Phipps: $6 million settlement for woman struck by school bus. As a result of her injuries she must use a cane to walk any significant distance.

L.A. v. D.Y.F.S.: $5.3 million settlement after verdict in favor of a minor child who suffered extensive physical and psychological abuse while in DYFS's custody.
